A Rough Rider brass assists the strong and high-minded Joe Lanier, who is the serious hero of the drama, in his struggle against Bud Stanton, a gentlemanly villain, and Sam Drysdale, an officer in the army and an accomplice of Stanton.

Stanton fell in love with Lanier's ward, because she would be rich some day, but Lanier and Nellie Hazelton interfered. Miss Hazelton has been wronged by Stanton. This did not weigh heavily on her mind; in fact, she was one of the liveliest and most cheerful wronged women ever seen in melodrama. But she wished to be respectably married, and she made a great deal of trouble for Stanton. Lanier's ward loved Stanton before she learned that he was a scoundrel, and Lanier thought it would be better if he accepted the capthe Philippines.
